WE'RE SERIOUS ABOUT PLAY

HELLO@INTOTHEMASK.COM | WWW.INTOTHEMASK.COM

PLAY = LEARNING

Kids thrive when given the freedom to laugh, explore their curiosity, and express themselves creatively through sharing ideas, playing freely, and moving.

That's where we come in! At IntotheMask, we provide an after school resource to tap into the purposeful play for years 1-6 in a tailored after school enrichment club called Active Courage.

Neuroscience research supports that play-based learning enhances neuroplasticity and is linked to children feeling empowered to make their own choices, push through failure, and, ultimately, become independent learners.

Our play-based drama classes offer an extension of the social and emotional support through drama based play for students to discover their true potential while building courage, resilience, and other crucial life skills along the way.

"Drama after school helps with social development and freedom of expression that they may not otherwise have an opportunity to experience. A positive outlet with many enriching outcomes "

Alethea Dreyer

HOW OUR AFTER SCHOOL CLUB WORKS

Our programs are built around playing drama games that inspire imagination, build social skills, and encourage whole-body communication.

Inclusive and multisensory, each week's class is based on a particular purpose that's tailored to the specific school focus and the individuality of the students.

Led by creative and passionate educators, our programs help strengthen academic, social, and personal capabilities—while simultaneously offering students to make deeper connections with their peers, build confidence for their next assembly or presentation, all while having fun.

Our Tutors are trained Drama Specialists and have a passion for inspiring courage and building skills that showcase student's confidence to help them reach their true potential.

WHY PLAY MATTERS

Play in early years through to primary education is gaining more attention and the level of impact it has on child development is groundbreaking. And we think that the Drama curriculum has something to offer.

Drama based play is a co-constructive, socially situated play pedagogy, that not only stimulates imagination and enhances oral language, but it has been found to improve self regulation, develop tenacity, and mature both intra- and interpersonal skills.

Incorporating the strategies and skills can also benefit classroom educators to enhance their playful tool kits.

Opportunities for building Pedagogical Drama techniques for Educators

Stimulates a sense of agency & empowerment

Celebrates the expression of personality & uniqueness

Enhances critical & creative thinking

Helps children build confidence, resilience and problem-solving skills

Enables children to make connections between prior experiences & new learning

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Drama education champions the Early Years Learning Framework of BEING, BELONGING, BECOMING, supports the WA Primary curriculum, and nurtures students in achieving their potential. It's a win-win-win!

This is why we also offer K-2 Incursions.
